DEDICATION

For many years Jefferson has been a symbol of high standards of education in the city of Roanoke. Here thousands of her students have been awakened to the causes and meaning of education and have been guided on their various ways toward higher knowledge and careers.

On this, our fortieth anniversary, we dedicate our yearbook to a person who began her high school education here as a student and came back after receiving her degree at Randolph-Macon to guide many lives toward succerning practically any phase of our school as a source of information concerning ractically any phase of our education. We will remember her most in her capacity as a secretary, but we will always thank her for her personal interest in every member of the student body and the faculty.

It is with humble thankfulness for your sincere devotion to Jefferson, her students and teachers, and what she stands for that we proudly dedicate the 1964 Acorn to you—Miss Edna Chesney

THE ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

Mrs. Staton assists her Sophomore English class with their study of the Odyssey.

English, the largest department at Jefferson has this year added a Pilot Study to the curriculum for the sophomores. World Literature is the basis for the reading, and speech and composition are emphasized to help the student to become more articulate in the use of his language.

For the second year, the English department sponsored the Fine Arts Festival in February. This consisted of a week of assemblies on the various phases of music, art, drama and English.

English department faculty members were also advisors for our three school publications.

All of our English teachers emphasized composition, literature, and word usage. Senior themes climaxed our English careers in high school.

THE SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

This year has been a great year for our science department, and for the science students here at Jefferson. After many years we have finally received a long awaited and very much needed modern science laboratory with the latest furniture and equipment.

Under the guiding hand of our beloved Colonel Wilson, head of the science department, and his competent associates we learn about biology, chemistry, and physics.

The Science Department was most fortunate to have installed this year new lab facilities. All five of the science rooms and the office received new work tables and modern electrical and water hook ups. The new labs helped make physics, chemistry, and biology even more interesting for the science students.

HISTORY DEPARTMENT

To graduate from Jefferson two units are required in history. American history is taken in the junior year and government in the senior year.

We have a very capable staff of history and government teachers. Under the leadership of our history teachers we gain a full knowledge of the government of Virginia and of the United States. We learn about explorers and other famous people who founded, explored, and settled our free nation. We learn more about how it is run in our government class.

One of the big events of the school year in this department was the trip to Williamsburg, which was open to all students here at Jefferson.

At Jefferson we have an outstanding language department. Offered are Spanish, Latin, French, Russian, and, this year, German. Each language group has its own club, except for German which has not yet organized one.

The Junior Classical League is the Latin Club with Mrs. Baird as the advisor; Fleur de Lys is the French Club with Mr. Adams as the advisor, and the Pan American League, which is the Spanish Club, has Miss Snedegar as its sponsor, and the Russian Club is sponsored by Mrs. Petersen.

Two of the groups have their own newspapers published by the students. The Roanoke Roman is the Latin newspaper, and L'Echo de Roanoke is the French publication.

Two of the most important events of the school year are the Fall and Spring play. Under the skilled leadership of Mr. Cohron we have some of the best plays in the Virginia High School Dramatics League. Especially successful this year was the musical comedy "Bye Bye Birdie."

The Art Department contributes to many phases of school life at Jefferson throughout the year and gives inspiration and pleasure to the entire student body through its frequent and outstanding art exhibits. It offers classes in basic advanced and consumer art.

GIRLS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

Among the required courses a student must have to graduate from Jefferson are four years of physical education.

Our physical education department has three main objectives: to provide opportunities for participation in physical activities that will result in educational experiences; to develop the organic systems of the body so that each student may live at his highest level; and to develop skills in activities with favorable attitudes toward play that will carry over into future careers and leisure hours.

Our fine athletic coaching staff makes up the teaching staff of the boys' physical education department. Mr. Byrd, Mr. Hellard, and Mr. Ebert are the teachers who try to keep our sophomore and junior boys physically fit. Alternating health and physical education during the five school days, the boys learn a little about the diseases of the systems of our bodies, how to prevent them, and how to keep in shape.

Students in Miss Ledford's first year typing class learn the basic principles of letter, writing, outlining, composing, and speed writing.

Students who plan to go into the world of business after graduation are offered a wonderful chance to gain experience while here at Jefferson. As seniors they are able to hold jobs through Vocational Office Training and Distributive Education courses. They work a minimum of fifteen hours a week in business offices, retail, wholesale or service business.

Typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, clerical practice, general business, and a course in office machines are some of the business subjects that are offered to students.

CAFETERIA and CUSTODIAL STAFF

Our qualified cafeteria staff is a necessary part of our school life. Everyday when the bell rings for lunch they are there ready to serve us. They work hard to prepare well-balanced, good, nutritious meals.

Here at Jefferson, we take great pride in the appearance of our school. We try to keep our halls and corridors as clean as we can but where we slip-up the custodial staff takes over. When there is work to be done the custodians are always there to do it.

Mr. Bob Crawford, of the science department was caught by the candid camera. Was he proving or disproving the law of gravity?

Another candid shot — Mr. Joe Cohron had just made a forceful point evidentlv!

Our school system inaugurated a new series of evaluation studies this year called S.I.P. or School Improvement Program. Faculty members of each school worked in seventeen divisions, or SIGS—School Improvement Guides. When each of these studies was completed the chairman of that group presented his report, for approval to a scheduled faculty meeting, before it was sent to the Administrative offices. Above Mrs. Beverly Osterhoudt presented S.I.G. No. 3, The Ability to Speak, to a faculty meeting in November.

SENIOR OFFICERS:

We, the senior class of 1964, leave Jefferson with confidance, but also with perhaps a feeling of sadness. Our years here have been full of rewarding experiences, academically, athletically, and socially, and as we face the future we, like many other seniors in the past forty years are thankful that we had the privilege of attending this school and receiving our high school diplomas from Jefferson.

Two privileges seniors enjoyed this year were the new Senior Lounge and the traditional Senior Day Picnic which was held in May at Lakeside Amusement Park.

Room seven was scrubbed, painted and comfortably furnished to accommodate seniors with free periods and acceptable grades. A Nab and a Coke machine were installed to nourish seniors while they studied. The lounge was a bright and cheerful room and each senior worked to keep it that way.

Our traditional Senior Picnic was held at Lakeside a week before final exams. Picnic lunches with plenty of fried chicken were provided for the famished seniors by the cafeteria. They also received tickets to the American theater, after an exciting day of riding the roller coaster, visiting the fun house and having a ball.

CLASS OF '65

Jean Dobbins, President; David McCray, Vice President; Gail Schoonover, Secretary; Joe Turner, Treasurer.

We are now juniors, looking forward eagerly to our senior year. To become future seniors who will represent Jefferson, as in the past, we began to prepare this year. First was the election of officers which took place the first semester, and following that, the choosing of the junior steering committee and the first junior class meeting. One big event of our junior year was preparation for the junior-senior prom.

Next year we will become the leaders of our school and great responsibilities will be ours.

Terry Powers, President; Mike Andrews, Vice President; Sue Jackson, Secretary; Brenda Duff, Treasurer.

At the beginning of the year, we as sophomores became a part of the great tradition of Jefferson. Doors opened to a new year of studies and new friends. Throughout the year we strived to uphold the standards and participate in Jeff activities such as sports, assemblies, plays, dances, and last but not least, the exams. Now at the end of the year we can be proud to say, "I was a sophomore at Jefferson!"

Elevator passes! One of the first sights that greeted the unsuspecting sophomores was a wily "upperclassman" forming a line to sell elevator passes. As there were no elevators, the sophomores soon "got" the joke, laughed it off, and filed away the memory for use on next year's sophomores.

Frank Caldwell, Richard Duncan, and Ken Vaughn, all sophomores, preceded the band during parades and drills. They presented colors whenever the National Anthem was played during home games.

Mrs. Nina Cooper and Mrs. Elcy Whitley sponsored the Scholastic Book Services paper back book club during the year. Over a thousand books were ordered by their students on a variety of timely subjects and by outstanding classic and contemporary authors.

Organizations

STUDENT COOPERATIVE ASSOCIATION

Miss Snedegar, SCA Advisor; Mary Leigh Smith, SCA Treasurer; Billy Craig, SCA President; Carol Tate, SCA Vice President; Janice Jamison, SCA Recording Secretary; Carolyn Johnson, SCA Corresponding Secretary.

The Jefferson High School Prefect consisted of the Student Cooperative Association officers, the presidents from each of the three class divisions and elected Prefect members on the sophomore, junior, and senior levels.

The S.C.A. promote a closer relationship between students and teachers. Through it they gained a better understanding of each other which enabled them to work together for the betterment of each individual student and Jefferson. Members gained valuable first-hand experience in phases of government and practicing good citizenship.

During this past year the S.C.A. sponsored Sophomore Orientation Day and a tea for the faculty in September. Each year it is in charge of class elections, and also the elections of the various queens and their courts.

The Student Directory, the Christmas Dance, and the Spring Project were also annual projects sponsored by this organization.

THE ACORN

Martha Leech

Our deep appreciation goes to Ronnie Sutphin who helped us a great deal by taking many pictures often at inconvenient times for him.

Rex Humrich, Art Editor; Martha Leech, Editor; Vickie Overstreet, Assistant Editor.

Mrs. Cooper and Miss Ledford were excellent advisors. Their ideas and work contributed greatly toward making this yearbook the best ever.

The Jefferson News is issued sixteen times during the school year and is very important to each student.

Completely written and edited by the students, the paper contained news reports on all school events and student organizations as well as editorials, articles, and comments pertinent to current school affairs at Jefferson. Students working on the newspaper receive excellent training in journalism.

Dorothy Sutphin and Rusty McCown, business managers.

NEWS

As a member of the Southern Interscholastic Press Association and Columbia Scholastic Press Association, the Jefferson News has won many awards. It has an active exchange program with other Virginia High Schools and with many out of state high schools.

Mrs. Ruth Staton was the literary advisor.

Danny Hawley, Editor of The Jefferson News, efficiently headed the news staff this year.

Mrs. Ruth Staton examines a copy of The Jefferson News for which she served as advisor. This was Mrs. Staton's eighth year as faculty advisor for the News.

The News would certainly have been incomplete without a staff photographer. Ronnie Sutphin was present at all the school activities to record them permanently with his camera.

The staff reporters, Barbara Tode, Gordon Jessee, Harold Castleman, Janice Jamison, and Annie Mae Bush were assigned reports on all the school functions this year.

Tom Brown (left), Key Club International Vice-President, presents the official charter to Danny Franklin, Jefferson Key Club President. At this presentation in July, 1963, the Jefferson Key Club was officially organized, and became the first such club in the city of Roanoke.

The Key Club is a boys' organization sponsored by the Roanoke Kiwanis Club. The main emphasis is placed on leadership ability with the requirement of a 3.0 average out of a possible 5.0 being necessary for membership. New members must be voted upon after going through a trial period and accepted by the club before they are inducted.

The main objectives of the club are to serve the school and community while instilling in each member the qualities needed in being "Youth leaders today; Adult leaders tomorrow."

Y-TEENS

The Y-Teen Club of Jefferson is a Christian organization sponsored by the central YWCA.

Meetings were held on the second and fourth Monday of each month. A three-week membership campaign was held in the fall which resulted in the largest Y-Teen club in several years. Members attended the half-day conferences at the YWCA and participated in the annual "Hanging of the Greens" Program. Socials ranged from a hayride and a Halloween Party to a Luau.

Classes on auto mechanics and weaving were taught on Saturdays for six weeks at the YWCA. The Y-Teens also helped with Tuberculosis and March of Dimes Campaigns.

The advisor is Mrs. Beverly Osterhoudt.

The Hi-Y organized in 1924 is one of the most active boys' clubs in the school.

This year's program included weekly meetings at which there were speakers, films, and sporting events.

The highlight of the year was the Model General Assembly, held in Richmond. This year the Jefferson delegation consisting of Bob Cooper, Jimmy Nackley, Steve Caldwell, Glenn Dillon, and Bob Kahle, introduced a bill to the legislature.

The Hi-Y also sponsored several service projects. This year they delivered Christmas baskets to the needy. The club donated mirrors for the boys restrooms and a microphone for the stage.

Mr. C. F. Adams is the advisor for the club.

Glenn Dillon, a sophomore here at Jefferson, was chosen district vice president of the Hi-Y last fall.

The Jefferson High Theatre, headed by Mr. Joe Cohron, is composed of students who are members of the National Thespian Society and others working toward Thespian membership who are called Masquers. It also includes those students enrolled in the Dramatics and speech classes.

The dramatics year began with the fall play. This year, dramatics students excited the whole school with the lively musical "Bye Bye Birdie." The Christmas season, as always, brought the traditional presentation of "Why the Chimes Rang." The winter months were not dull for dramatic students because they were to accomodate those coming for the District One-Act Play Festival, which was held at Jefferson this year.

The year ended with the spring play and the initiation of those qualified into the Thespian Troupe 1006, of Jefferson High School.

They worked to assist the representatives, one from each homeroom, in the club's projects.

This year the club participated in promoting the High School Blood Donor Program on January 4, 1964. It sent its representatives to local hospitals to participate in the nursing program. Volunteer student typists went to the local Chapter House to assist. In the spring the Red Cross gave a variety program at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Students participated in many Red Cross community activities through their work in the club.

VOICE OF CHRISTIAN YOUTH

This year there has been an increased interest in the Voice of Christian Youth Bible Club. While the membership was not large, there were approximately twenty young people who were dedicated to the high ideals for which the club stands and which it seeks to promote throughout the school.

The semi-monthly meetings dealt with the devotional as well as with the ethical and social life of the high school student.

At Thanksgiving the club sponsored an interdenominational service for the entire student body. The Reverend Mr. James Allison, Jr. was the guest speaker at this time.

Our Christmas project was the making available, for all who cared for them, small booklets giving the King James version of the Christmas story in English and in Spanish.

The V.C.Y. was hostess to a coffee-break for teachers on one of their working days after the mid-semester examinations.

In October, the Pan American League held a Fiesta, complete with Spanish setting, foods, and customs. The League had a successful bake sale in December to raise funds for its part of the Fine Arts Festival. In February, it sponsored a Spanish dancer, Senor Gallant, during Fine Arts Week, and later in the Spring had a banquet.

The highlight of the year was the League's trip to Washington, D. C. in April for a visit to the Pan American League.

THE ROANOKE ROMAN

The Roanoke Roman is a Latin newspaper, that, like Jefferson, is forty years old this year. In the paper the articles are printed both in English and Latin. One can find national and school news, essays, editorials, history, poems, and jokes. The Roanoke Roman gives student writers the chance to show that Latin lives today.

THE JUNIOR CLASSICAL LEAGUE

This year, as in the past, the club sponsored several events of special interest for Latin students. On October 19, a bus-load of Jeffites went to the state Junior Classical League convention at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville. On December 20th the club held its annual Christmas party. Original skits were presented, comparing the ancient Roman celebration, Saturnalia, with our Christmas customs.

At the February meeting, Valentine cards with Latin greetings were exchanged and in May, the spring banquet was held. All students came in their ancient costumes and Roman dishes were served.

Throughout the year, students presented special research projects on Roman life and culture.

The Fleur-de-Lyes did other things besides learn French. In April a banquet was held for French and Spanish students, and members had a French picnic in May.

Our monthly meetings included talks by guest speakers.

During the year we had our annual Dutch Treat supper at the S & W Cafeteria. In April we had Career Day, when each member of the F.T.A. visits the school of his choice to observe for the day.

STUDENT TEACHERS

This year Jefferson had eight student teachers from Longwood College. During their visit, the teachers took part in an informal discussion at one of the F.T.A. meetings. They observed, taught and left Jefferson, ready to go into the teaching profession after graduation. We, especially the male students, missed them.

This business group is sponsored by the United Business Education Association, a department of the National Education Association.

The Regional Future Business Leaders of America Convention was held at Radford on April 4. Also the state organization had its annual convention April 24-25, at Hotel Roanoke. An annual workshop is to be held during the summer at Massanatta, Va. Presidents, members and sponsors plan the following year's work during these workshops.

Future Business Leaders of America helps improve education through closer school and community relationships and supplies a valuable source of recruitment for business employers.

The club appeared on Lorrie Gregory's television show as well as before two civic clubs. These appearances were to inform people of Distributive Education Clubs of America.

Two projects were undertaken by the club. One was a fund raising project in which students sold hand lotion. The other project was a "Teen-Age Marketing" survey. This survey was conducted in the high school to determine where students got their spending and for what things they spent it.

The district convention was held February 19 at Franklin County High School. At this time awards were presented to students who contests at the district level.

On March 11, the students held their annual Employer-Employee Banquet to honor their employers.

Gordon Jessee, William Caudle, Billy Craig, Janice Jamison, Carol Tate, Jeanette Crouch, and Barry Akers.

These students spent the week of July 7-13, 1963 at the 17th Annual Girls' and Boys' State.

Boys' State was held at VPI, Blacksburg, Va., while Girls' State was at Radford College, Radford, Va. This week has been set up on an annual basis to teach students how the government of the state of Virginia operates. It was a week of learning, of many exciting experiences, and for making of many friends from all over Virginia.

The big event of the week was the Governor's Ball. The highpoint was an informal yet inspirational talk from our Governor, Albertus Harrison.

Danny Hawley and Clark Thomas were the receipients of the letter of commendation from the National Merit Qualification Tests.

Martha Leech and Rex Humrich were this year's Optimist Award candidate. Each year the local chapter of Optimist International presents a trophy to two Jefferson students at a banquet in December. The awards were made on the basis of excellence in leadership and scholarship.

Each year the Jefferson Band and Magicianettes elect a girl to represent our school in Roanoke's annual Christmas parade. Nancy English, a Senior, represented us December 21, in this colorful event.

"Crystal Ball" was the theme for our Christmas Dance held this year in the girls' gym.

EVENTS

Our alert yearbook photographer was on hand for an impromptu fire drill late in January. These drills were held once every month during the year.

Overwhelmed with joy, Jeanette Crouch shed tears of happiness as Jimmy Wimmer presented her red roses, significant of the honor of Homecoming Queen.

Students found the blacktop an interesting place to socialize during their lunch periods, or just to relax with a coke and catch up on the latest gossip before time for their next classes.

These and More Happened Here in '64

Here Jimmy Nackley, Rosemary Shiner, and Andrea Brooks enjoyed the paperback bookstore. This was the third year the bookstore had been in operation. The profits went to our honor societies which are the National Honor Society, advised by Miss Lelia Stalker, the Quill and Scroll Honor Society, advised by Mrs. Ruth Staton, and the National Thespian Society, advised by Mr. Joseph Cohron.

Lewis Mills, shown here in a dignified position, was typical of the wide-awake, eager-to-learn sophomores.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

G.A.A. OFFICERS
Treasurer-Jeanette Sprouse, President-Carol Tate; Vice President-Millie Merkel; Secretary-Brenda Craig.

The Girls Athletic Association was organized to give girls an opportunity to participate in various sports activities throughout the year. The program helps girls build traits of sportsmanship, make new friends, as well as build healthier bodies.

A girl can become a member of the G.A.A. by maintaining a set number of points. To get these points, she may be a cheerleader, sell programs at football games, and participate in varsity sports as well as the intramural program.

This year the girls' varsity sports have fared very well. The volleyball team won the city-county championship for the second consecutive year. A gymnastic team was organized at Jefferson for the first time this year. The girls compete in vaulting, free exercise, parallel bars, and on the balance team. The team competed locally and at the state meet.

A special project of the G.A.A. was to send an athletic equipment kit to a foreign country.

The Girls' Athletic Association is a member of the National Girls' Athletic Association.

The Magicians played some fine football during the '63 season despite their 1-7-2 record. The Magicians started the season off with a thrilling 26 to 0 win over Garner, N. C. But after that, except for two ties, the Mighty Magicians went downhill. Next years team will be without some of their big linemen because of graduation, but they are looking forward to having a winning season to bring Jefferson back to the Top.

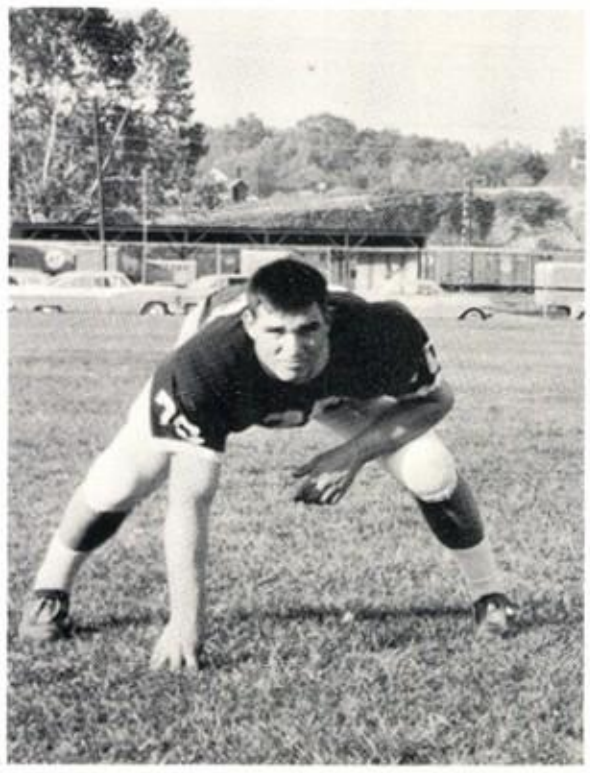
John Hatcher



John Gregory gained much recognition through his hard play in football during the 1963 season. He was voted a member of the All City-County Team, All Western District Team, All Group IA Team, and a member of the All State Team.

John was the only junior on the All State Team, and because he received the most votes, he was the honorary captain of that team. He has also been elected to lead the team for the 64 season at Jefferson.

BASKETBALL FOR '64

Jefferson's Basketball team this year, coached by Mr. Joe Byrd, started the season with high hopes, but with inexperience and a lack of height.The Magician's hopes for victories fell to the hands of their school rivals.

The team had two returning lettermen this season, Ronnie Gray and Gary Saunders, who were chosen Co-captains. Besides being the only lettermen and the co-captains, they were also the only seniors on the team. The rest of the team consisted of juniors and sophomores—one of whom was Butch Church, who led the team in scoring.

Although this was a rather poor season it has been a building season too. Next year all but the two seniors will be back and we are looking forward to a championship team.

Jefferson Senior High School

The date, 1964, had a special significance for the yearbook staff from the time early in September during our "planning" phase when we realized that it marked the fortieth anniversary of our school—we made this the theme of our 40th edition of The Acorn.

After learning that a new class ring style is to be adopted next year it seemed fitting to use the traditional style on our cover.

Now, as we near the end of the school year, many phases of our theme have become evident, which we hope are reflected throughout its pages.

It was the feeling of the staff that in an issue of this type, special tribute should be paid to a few of those many people who contribute vitally to the spirit which is Jefferson—and to them we have dedicated these two pages.

Jefferson's immediate predecessor was the old Roanoke High School, now our Roanoke City School Administration Building. School rooms were renovated to form offices, conference rooms etc. for school administrators.

Three of our administrative personnel closely associated with Jefferson are Dr. E. W. Rushton, our superintendent; Miss Dorothy Gibboney; Director of Personnel; and Dr. Frisbey Smith, Director of Secondary Education.

Fortieth Anniversary

We also wish to give special recognition to a few of our faculty members who have given so much of themselves to the students of Jefferson over a period of years that they have become part of its rich heritage. Miss Sidney Penn, long a faculty member here at Jefferson, though now retired, was invited to join them as we consider her an integral part of the principles for which Jefferson stands.

Our last thoughts as this year's Acorn went to press were, 'We take pride in our traditions, our school with its uplifting Gothic structure, and in the fact that we are participating in the newest methods of education, incorporated with those which are tried and true, and that we, the students of today are as proud to be Jeffites as were the students of 1924.

The present is but a razor's edge—between the past and the future.
